In short:

As a manager, you are an "octopus".
A lot of skills are expected of you:
people management - planning - making changes - being accountable - chairing meetings - working efficiently and purposefully - evaluation interviews ... You name it!

We make unconscious matters conscious and ensure that evolve from unconscious to conscious and competent so that one finally becomes unconsciously competent.

Let's be honest: nobody's perfect!

There are probably a number of skills/competencies of which you are aware that they can be sharpened.

It is a well-known fact that the best managers are assisted by a trainer-coach. Use this power and excel!

APPROACH:

- Step 1: Intake of 30' to establish objectives
- Step 2: Tailor-made slides are prepared/sent
- Step 3: Manager prepares and goes through the slides!
- Step 4: 1st coaching/training conversation of 60' to 90'
- Step 5: 2nd coaching/training session of 60' to 90'
- Step 6: Helpdesk for 3 months following interview
- Step 7: Maintain continuous training cycle
